DR. M'BROOME MARRIED.

The news has been received in this city of the marriage on the 18th of April of Dr. A. Harrison McBroom, formerly of this city, to Miss Leonora Higgins, of Chattanooga. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride on the above date.

Dr. McBroom is well known here as this is the city of his nativity and he was formerly a member of the faculty of Meharry, from which college he received his degree of M. D., after completing a course at Fisk. The bride, a very charming young lady, is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Higgins, two wealthy citizens of Chattanooga. She was a student for several years in Fisk University and has paid several visits to this city on other occasions, at which times she was the recipient of many social favors. The newly-wedded couple will reside in Chattanooga, where Dr. McBroom has built up quite an extensive practice.

WOODARD—TRIMBLE WEDDING.

Last Tuesday evening the residence of Mrs. Susie Trimble, Eighth avenue, North, was beautifully decorated and a host of friends thronged the spacious parlors. The occasion was the wedding which united in matrimony Mr. Lee Woodard and Mrs. Susie Trimble. They marched to the strains of a beautiful wedding march played by Miss Bruce Mai Ewing. The bride wore a French gray gown trimmed in gray silk. The groom was dressed in conventional style. Dr. T. W. Hagler united the couple and wished them long life and prosperity. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful presents. After the usual congratulations refreshments were served.

HOW LONDON WAS HOAXED.

(From the Pall Mall Gazette.)

In 1860 one of the most successful and perhaps the least harmful of all fools' hoaxes was perpetrated. A complimentary card was sent out inviting the public to an entertainment at the Tower of London:

ADMIT THE BEARER

To VIEW the WASHINGTON of the WHITE LIONS.
On the 1st of APRIL at 12 precisely.
Admitted only at the WHITE GATE.

So ran the cards. London was in uproar, and cabmen made small fortunes. "The better the day the better the deed." Doubtless it was because the trick was played on a Sunday that it proved the most successful of any on a large scale. Many went away convinced of the reality of the spectacle; but they had missed it through failing to find the White Gate.

GREAT STUNT BY GERONIMO.

(From Outing.)

In a single day Geronimo, when in his prime, ran forty miles on foot, rode 500 miles on one stretch, as fast as he could change horses, and so completely wore out the column which finally captured him that three sets of officers were needed to finish the chase, and not more than one-third of the troopers who started were in at the finish.

Wrinkled and crafty and cruel is his swarthy face to-day, but the fire of his infernal energy has died and he is no more than a relic of the Geronimo of whom Gen. Miles said after their first meeting:

"He rode into our camp and dismounted, a prisoner. He was one of the brightest, most resolute, determined men I ever met, with the sharpest, clearest dark eye. Every movement showed power and energy."

SPORTING NEWS.

FISK VS. NATIONAL BAPTIST.

On Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock the National Baptist baseball team will open the season of 1907 under glowing conditions. They will try conclusions with the strong Fisk team on Bennett Field. The team has been strengthened considerably since last season and is preparing for a hard campaign. The National Baptists furnished more sport for the fans than any club in Nashville last year, and they have planned to even eclipse their 1906 record this season. While the team has not had very much chance for practice this spring, they are determined to make the Fisk boys know that they have been in a game when the final inning will have been played Saturday. The following will compose the team that will go against Fisk: Pointer, Boyd, Bowman, Collins, Kelly, Watkins, Ewing, Fisher and Holmes.

WHITE HOUSE CROW

Has Been Foretelling the Weather Since Gen. Grant Was President.

Many folks in this city, as well as elsewhere, have been talking about the old crow which is known to have established his headquarters long ago in the White House grounds, says the Washington Post, and whose skill as an augur has been advanced recently by a warning he gave that Easter Sunday would certainly be a moist and unpleasant day.

To the east of the mansion on the north front, in a little grove of elms, the old bird has his habitation. Generally he occupies a tree very near the north portico. There is a large hollow in the trunk of this tree, and in the topmost branches his sable plumage is nearly always to be seen. Some of the policemen on duty about the grounds keep an eye on the old fellow at times, but the majority of them ignore him. "I have as much as I can do," said one of the blue-coats when the subject of the crow's methods was mentioned to him, "to keep my attention riveted upon the crowds of people that swarm here every day, without giving any thought to the crow."

But there are others about the White House who have paid considerable attention to him. One old retainer, who went into service when Gen. Grant became President, says this same crow was stationed near the house when he first took up a humble position there. "And we all know," said this old fellow, "that as a weather prophet he can give cards and spades to the bureau officers and beat them."

The man who could probably give more information, if he would, about the White House crow is that old veteran of the clerical force, Col. Crook, who has been stationed in one capacity or another about the Executive quarters ever since the days of President Lincoln. He has observed the bird's flights and heard his warning croaks for many years, and can testify to his presence in the grounds adjacent to the house for all this time. There is no one of the officials, high or low, who will venture conjecture concerning this crow's age. Their guesses range everywhere from twenty-seven years to the time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, but there is a consensus that no matter how old he is, he is a wise bird.

That he possesses some influence is evident from the fact that his forecast of the weather for Easter did prevent the ladies and some of the members of the minor officials about the White House from venturing out and risking a detriment to their beautiful spring finery. "How long this old fellow will remain with us no one can tell," said one of the clerks. "He knows he has a good place where no hunter can take a pot-shot at him, and no wanton little boy can hurl a rock at him, so he is wise enough to stand pat."

A well-informed gentleman who lives in a fine farming region in West Virginia, but who is temporarily sojourning in Washington, talking about the White House crow, said: "As a weather predictor the crow is in good rank. We country folks notice it and often take advantage of the warning. Then the crow is apt to give notice if there is a gale brewing by flying pretty close to the ground. If the sky is clear and likely to continue so he will soar as high as he can, and croak his delight at flying by lively caws."

Brownsville, Tex., May 1.—A movement has been started here toward raising by popular subscription $10,000 to be paid as a reward to any soldier or officer of the Twenty-Fifth Infantry who will confess to having participated in the raid on Brownsville in August last, or will give the names and produce the necessary evidence to convict those who are guilty.
